FOREWORD

This is the story of Sunset High School in 1950-1951. You, the students and teachers, have made the record that is set down here. As you work, Sunset works. As you play, Sunset plays. Sunset's activities are your activities, Sunset's accomplishments are your accomplishments, and Sunset's story, written here, is your story.

My dear Friends:

Because I had the pleasure, as your principal, of helping many of you start on your journey through school, this Senior Class is very dear to me. You were six years old, sweet, lovable, sincere and pure. Today I see those qualities of childhood matured into fine young men and women. I don't believe we could find young people more lovable, more worthwhile, more dependable, more devoted to their school. We have worked and played together, and many rich memories of you will be ours in the years ahead. It has been a joy to know you and to associate with you. In the future it will be a pleasure and a source of pride to claim you as sons and daughters of Sunset.

These days in which we live are days of uncertainty and as you turn away from these halls, we hope that you have received mental, physical, and spiritual fortifications which will enable you to meet the issues and live successful lives in peace and happiness. With your vigor, your courage, your ability, and with an unfaltering trust in God, you need not fear the newer tasks that lie ahead.

Best wishes,

C. C. Miller

In tennis the outcome of the boys elimination tournament finished with John Ford heading the list and Nelson Quinn second, followed by Jimmy Davis, Jimmy Randall and Clay Armstrong. On account of exams and bad weather, the girls' eliminations have not been completed. Diane DeGraff and Joan Carleton will battle for the number one spot as soon as the weather permits. Faye Brandenburg, Videlle Rux, and Helyn Wolfe complete the top five. An elimination tournament for 2B girls and boys to find new talent will be held soon.

"I'm not bragging, but I don't see how we can end up lower than second place," said Coach Knott.

In track Sunset will be a leading contender for the city crown.
